Alma Mater

Hail to Thee, Our Alma Mater
Sons and Daughters true,
We will take our stand and pledge
Our hands to dare and do.
In the years that quickly gather,
We shall hear and see thy fame:
We will honor, love and cherish
Middletown's fair name.

Hail to Thee, Our Alma Mater
Praises fill the sky,
Golden memories are returning;
Thoughts that never die.
Songs of gladness, hope inspiring,
Do within these walls resound;
So for thee we'll swell the chorus:

HAIL TO MIDDLETOWN!

Academic Regalia

The hoods, gowns and caps worn in academic ceremonies today are modified versions of clothing worn in medieval times to distinguish clerical and academic groups for the laity. The priests or monks who taught in the universities – Bologna, Paris, Oxford – and their students wore gowns and hoods to their lectures, probably for warmth in the damp, unheated halls where classes were held.

Hoods worn in academic processions today are more colorful than those worn in earlier times. They now represent degrees granted by various colleges and universities. Their linings are in the colors of the granting institution.

The color of their facings represents the academic discipline in which the degree has been granted: white for arts, letters or humanities; golden yellow for science; purple for law; green for medicine; lemon yellow for library science; orange for engineering; sapphire blue for commerce or business; light blue for education; pink for music; brown for fine arts; dark blue for philosophy and scarlet for theology.

Their length indicates the type of degree held by the wearer; long for the doctorate, medium for the master's, short for the bachelor's.

The bachelor's gown is worn closed; the master's gown is worn open or closed, depending partly on its tailoring. The doctor's gown is worn open or closed depending on the preference of its wearer.

The sleeves of the three types of gowns are of different lengths and cuts. In addition, the sleeves of the doctor's gown have three horizontal velvet stripes, and the gown itself has vertical facing of velvet in front.
